

I can only hope the need for power and money by big bussiness can be kept from causing the Amature Radio communittee from paying a price it should not have to pay. When the world needs us to help in times of need how can we if we can not hear what is going on. One listen to the test performed should tell you what is going to happen if this is allowed to go forward. Day to day noise. from the poor lines and equipment used will only make this even a bigger issue. we have to fight now just to get the lines repaired when Bpl starts up the power company ansewer to our complaints will be it's not us it is BPL.....Please do not vote with your wallets on this we need some protection on this issue.
